The Detian Waterfall is situated on an international border -- between Shulong Town of Daxin County in Guangxi China and Yuxi of Chongqing County in Cao Bang Vietnam.

The Guichun River serves as the natural national boundary from Detian Village to Shulong. The Guichun, which originates in Jingxi County, Guangxi, is about 150 kilometers long, and runs into Vietnam for 35 kilometers before crossing back into China. Indeed the name Guichun, which comes from the local inhabitants, means “returning to the country and meeting the source.” The Guichun becomes a waterfall when it comes to a cliff at Putang Islet near Detian and the waterfall is named after the village.

You will have plenty of time to enjoy and you will take a bamboo raft up to the spray to feel the roaring waters.

The visit to the canyon including the sightseeing shuttle bus ride inside the canyon is about 3 hours. You will mainly walk on the paved road. You do not need to be in excellent physical condition, but a good pair of walking shoes is required.
